

Harlan S. Levinson '83 is a Vice President and Financial Advisor at Morgan Stanley. Prior to joining Morgan Stanley, where he is an active participant in the firm's LGBT employee resource group, Harlan was a financial advisor at Merrill Lynch, having joined that firm in 2004. Prior to 2004, Harlan managed acquisitions for a private equity firm. Previous to that, he worked for the Bank of New York, where he co-managed the corporate foreign exchange desk, and for Morgan Grenfell, the British merchant bank, in New York and London, advising corporate treasurers on managing risk. A graduate of Choate Rosemary Hall and Lafayette College, in his spare time Harlan is an avid reader, while also making attempts at cooking and weightlifting. Harlan was born, raised, and still lives in Manhattan.
